

Topic for explore task:
Facial recognition

Facial recognition is changing the way security is handled internationally and has been redefining the future of technology. It uses data to recognize faces in an internal database. However, this technology is still prone to many errors and is nowhere near fault proof